THE SENTINEL.
WM. E. PELL, PROPRIETOR.
WHAT IS A DAY?
How often have we heard this remark:—What is a day? Can we not spend it as we choose, free from care to throw aside the trammels of business, the cares of life, and the obligations of duty? May we not postpone these matters till to-morrow and give leisure to the wings of fancy to-day? What is a day? The bright and glorious sun shines in the cloudless firmament. The breath of June is laden with the incense of flowers, the woods echo with the songs of birds, the bosom of mother earth is clothed with the fresh and sinewy vestments of summer. Nature walks forth in the richness of her beauty, inviting to voluptuousness and pleasure, let us repose then upon her bosom and give care and toil to the winds. What is a day? I hear the old clock ticking steadily in the corner, and ask what is a second? The hammer strikes the hour. I see the sun rise and set, and ask what is a day? What is it? The spring came with the winds of March and went with the flowers of May. Summer is measuring by seconds, hours, and days its ceaseless tread, and soon will be gone. The autumn and winter will succeed, and what is a year? Ah! how the mysterious mind is clothed of its being; how thoughtless it is being borne along to its mysterious destiny! All great results are reached little by little, step by step.
The longest journey is accomplished inch by inch, the greatest wealth penny by penny, the most splendid acquirements are made up of items in themselves small and insignificant. Take from the ocean a drop of water every year, and in the end you will drain it dry. Blot out a star each century, and the heavens would in time be robbed of every gem. Extract from the earth a grain of sand for every generation of mankind, and at last it would cease to be. Yet what is a drop of water, star, grain of sand in the universe of God?
When Tiberius was near his end, he hesitated as to whether he should appoint as his successor in the Roman empire. He ordered his grandson Tiberius and nephew Caius should be invited to his apartment one morning, and, appealing to the gods to decide the question, privately determined in his own mind that the youth who appeared first should have the crown. Young Tiberius delayed an hour, and the empire was lost and won. The story has a lesson to my purpose. I repeat, what is a day? And answer, perhaps a point on which hangs the fortunes of this life, perhaps the issue of the life to come. One thing is certain, a day may be lost but never can be regained. You suffer it to float into the ocean of the past, but you can never recall one of its fleeting moments; you may lose thus an opportunity of acquiring knowledge, doing good, but that opportunity will never be yours again. You have a day you could apply to the acquiring intellectual stores; you neglect it, and there loss just that amount of knowledge forever. You may throw away the fruits of a day's labor by idleness, and you are that much poorer all your life.
"THE OLD VIRGINIA GENTLEMAN."—Some days since, a valued contemporary, wrote an item in his number on the Old Virginia Gentleman. We are happy to inform our friend that he has been misinformed as to the demise of that venerated and time honored personage. He still lives; changed in his circumstances, reduced in his fortunes, somewhat depressed in his spirits, but he still lives! We see him and converse with him constantly. He remains, as before, generous as his means will permit, and as hospitable as of old. You find in him all his former noble qualities and excellencies. You see him now, as he used to be, kind to his neighbors, confiding to his friends, even forgiving his enemies, and courteous to all. He cannot, it may be, entertain you, as he once did, in the excess of his affluence, and as he would wish to do, with the luxuries of life, but he gives you his society, his advice, and his counsel. He has not now around him, as in old times, his family domestic, prompt to serve his guests, nor have his children their old and affectionate nurse, their dear old mamma, whom they loved next to their parents. His kitchen maid, the same good creature who formerly was such of the broad acres that are left him, as they once were, by those under his own care and control—they have all gone to the Freedmen's Bureau, and the—; but his heart is the same—"open as day to smiling charity"—glowing with affection and friendship—warm as a sunbeam, and filled with "the milk of human kindness." He accepts the situation, with the best grace possible, "grits his teeth a little" when he hears of some new exaction, but he does not repine, and his old thoughts about the allies of those who oppress and injure him—but endeavors to be as charitable as human nature will allow. We do not know but that we love the old gentleman even better in adversity than we did in prosperity. He stands so straight, so firm, and looks so redolent of benignity! Hope has not deserted him—despair has never reached him! God bless those who follow in his footsteps and imitate his example.—Alfred's Gazette.
TO DESTROY INSECTS AND VERMIN.—The celebrated Raspaill, well known as one of the best French chemists, has given an important recipe for destroying vermin on animals, and also on plants and trees—important, at least, if true. The process he recommends is to make a solution of aloes—(one gramme of that gum to a litre of water, French measure)—and, by means of a large brush, to wash over the trunks and branches of trees, and the sides of animals. This simple process, says Raspaill, will speedily destroy all the vermin on the trees, and will effectually prevent others from approaching. In order to clear sheep and animals with long hair, they must be bathed with this solution, or well washed with it. Raspaill mentions several trials he has made with this mixture, all of which have been attended with the most complete success, and he very strongly recommends its general use.—A French litre is a little less than three of our pints—a gramme is the five-hundredth part of a French pound. A little aloes, if useful at all, will thus go a great way.

VOTERS MUST REGISTER.

Agreeing to Gen. Sickles' order, the registration of voters will commence in this State on the 15th of July next. As yet the names of the Registrars are not known; neither are the people fully informed as to what persons are entitled to vote. Enough, however, ought to be known among the masses, to enable them to determine whether or not they are entitled to vote. But even among the intelligent men we find much doubt, where there is no room to doubt.

As a general principle, it may be settled thus: "Did I at any time previous to the rebellion ever hold an office under the United States, or under the State, and did I take an oath of office to support the Constitution of the United States? If so, I am not disfranchised." All persons, residents of the State for twelve months, and at the time of registration twenty-one years of age, are undoubtedly entitled to vote, unless before the war they held office and took the oath of office, &c. Persons who took part in the rebellion are not disfranchised unless they were office-holders previous to the war. Thus far there can be no doubt. Office-holders before the war are the only class of persons in the State who ought to doubt or hesitate. In regard to these, it is hoped that Gen. Sickles' order will, in a few days, satisfy all fully whether they are entitled to vote or not.

We consider that duty to ourselves, to our wives and children, to our neighbors and fellow-citizens, and to the entire country, obliges every man entitled to register, in order to vote, as soon as the registering begins. The man who neglects to register, his fellow-citizens and his State grossly injustice. He poorly values his citizenship. A new State government is to be formed. Whether it is right or not for the people of North Carolina to remodel the State government, agreeably to the requisitions of the Congress, is not the question. The Congress not only demands it, but has the power, and will enforce it. Whether you participate or not, a new State government will be formed. If you refuse or neglect to register and vote, you will be inexcusable; you never can answer to your country for such neglect, if the State government formed should be a vicious one, an evil instead of a good one. Perhaps one single vote in this State may give us either a good or a bad government. Will you fall, therefore, from sheer neglect or indifference, to register and vote in such a case? We hope not.

Let the people remember, that if they fail to register at the time designated by the District Commanders, they cannot register at a future day. If you put off registering until the day of election, you cannot register, nor can you vote. By your neglect or refusal to register, you can take no part in any election whatever; you will have cut yourself off from the highest privilege of an American citizen, and, perhaps, forever.

Most extraordinary efforts are making throughout the South to get a full registration and vote from the colored voters. The evidence is plain, that almost every negro in the South will register and vote. But this is far from being the case with the whites. So far as Louisiana and Virginia have registered, the evidence is that not one white man, entitled to vote, out of every three or five, are registering. They seem to have determined to give up the entire control of the Southern States to the negroes and the Yankees and Southern Loyals. Is that the determination of the white men in North Carolina? Are you willing that the colored people of this State, led by bad, vicious, white men, shall rule this State? If you neglect to register or vote, the colored race must and will rule North Carolina. The Congress has determined that the negroes of the South, however ignorant or debased, or however inferior they may be, shall have a full share in ruling the South and the whole country. Will you, because you think that it is all wrong, cut yourself off from voting, to spite Congress? - Our advice to every white man in North Carolina, who has determined not to avail himself of the right to vote by refusing to register, is to make his calculations to be governed by the black race.

We call upon intelligent gentlemen throughout the State to rally the white men of the State to register. The blacks are fully aroused up—they are being rallied and incited and taught, every day, to register and vote. Will no one try to arouse the white men of the State? Shall North Carolina be governed entirely by negroes and the white-faced enemies of our people? That is the question, the real question, at issue.

All calculations based upon the supposition that the Radical rule of short duration—that the Conservatism of the country will soon triumph, are untrue and delusive. The only wise course is to take things as we find them, and endeavor to control them in the future. Register, we say. Let every white man in the State, entitled to a vote, register and vote. Our colored people will do it, almost to a man. No one is disposed to discourage or prevent them. Special efforts are making to force them all to register and vote for men who are the enemies of the white race. Let the white men, therefore, put themselves in a position, by registering, to take their full share in the control of the State government!

THE "BLACK DEATH"

Late intelligence from Europe indicates the return of this dreadful disease. There is room to fear that it has commenced its work of havoc in Ireland. Few are living who remember its fearful ravages, yet history furnishes most distressing accounts of its progress in Egypt, Turkey, Northern and Western Europe, the two centuries preceding the present. It ravaged all Europe in the fourteenth century. The symptoms of the disease are described thus by the New York World:

"The symptoms of this malady are, first, bilious vomiting and purging, succeeded by acute headache and incoherence, then a purple eruption, usually manifesting itself upon the breast and shoulders, and spreading over the entire body; then debility; collapse accompanied with paralysis, and sometimes with a dislocation of the head and spine; and at last, death. The duration of the first variety of cases which have occurred since March, 1866, has averaged eighteen hours from the first indisposition until the fatal instant. The duration of the second variety has averaged from three to five days; and that of the third variety, which is the only one in which recovery has taken place, has reached many days, and even weeks. The contagion of the sickness is shown in the statement made in regard to cases which have occurred among soldiers."

With these remarkable accounts of the progress made in Ireland by so fearful a disorder, physicians in this country will doubtless ascribe their recollection of, and for aught that is known, their present acquaintance with, the "spotted fever," a malady nearly as fatal as the dreadful sickness of which it may be the sister Pest."

THE MINERAL WATERS OF THE UNITED STATES AND CANADA, with a map and plates and general directions for visiting Mineral Springs, by J. J. MOOREHEAD, M. D., resident physician of the White Sulphur, &c., Baltimore, Kelly and Fox, 1867.

We are indebted to Messrs. Kelly and Fox, the enterprising publishers, for this interesting and valuable work. It contains precisely the information which invalids want and ought always to have before leaving home for the Virginia Springs. When a patient knows what is the matter with him, and that he must leave home in order to find health, the next thing is to ascertain where he ought to go to seek it. As far as Dr. Moorehead proposes to give this information, we have no doubt he has done it, in this work, truthfully, scientifically and professionally. The only regret that can be felt is that, although the work professes to give information in regard to the mineral waters of the United States and Canada, yet, with the exception of mere outline notices of all others, it contains really only a full and satisfactory account of the Springs of Virginia, and especially of the White Sulphur. Several valuable Springs of North Carolina, so near at home, are entirely omitted, and with the few noticed at all, it is very briefly done.

A work really being what this proposes to be would make a very large volume, and such a work is so desirable and important. That the labor and expense of getting it out, would be abundantly repaid by its sale. We have no idea that one or all of the Virginia Springs are adapted to every form of disease and to all constitutions. It is important, therefore, that the public should have correct information in regard to all the mineral waters of the Union. Dr. Moorehead would be entitled to the highest praise as a benefactor, if he would favor the public with this information. By the use of a smaller type and the omission of really useless matter, the whole might be put in the same space as Dr. Moorehead's book.

His book, however, as it is, is of great value, and will have great weight in leading invalids to the Virginia Springs, which, we presume, is its chief design. It is worth double its price. The book may be found at Branson and Farrar's, in this city, for $2.50. The publishers are entitled to much credit for its execution in so neat a form.

THE STANDARD.—This paper has descended so low, for some time, in its lying personal abuse and its utter want of gentility, that, in obedience to the earnest and frequently expressed wishes of our friends not to notice it, we shall, from this day, discontinue our exchange with it.

When the Register is issued, we shall exchange with that, because we believe its editor is a gentleman. From that source, and others, we hope to learn all that is true and reliable as to the politics of the Republican party in North Carolina.

If, at any time, any of our readers see an article in the Standard that merits a notice, our columns are at their service, but, as to ourselves, a decent self-respect forbids any further editorial notice of the Standard.

SHERIDAN.—The letter of this officer to Gen. Grant, which we publish in another column, has excited much and varied comment in the Northern press. The prevailing sentiment is that of indignation at the writer's audacity and insubordination. The National Intelligencer speaks of it as:

1st. Disrespectful to the War Department, through which the order was transmitted.
2d. Disrespectful to General Grant.
3d. Disrespectful and insubordinate to the President of the United States—the Commander-in-Chief of the military and naval forces of the United States.

COURT OF RECONSTRUCTION.—The paltry sum of $500,000 was appropriated to carry out Reconstruction, as if such a meagre sum was really thought to be sufficient. This particular fraud upon the people is now exposed by admission of General Sickles himself, in the letter to Senator Wilson, in another column. More than half a million for the Carolina alone, says General Sickles, will be required from the national treasury! We have no doubt that even this estimate will fall greatly short of the real amount required.

A secret society in Tennessee, composed of negroes, is sworn to murder any of the members who abandon the ranks to oppose Brownlow.

There are ten more daily republican newspapers in the South, now than there were before the Reconstruction law was passed.

Gen. Logan has announced that between Reconstruction and his duties as a member of the national committee, he will be unable to speak in the South this summer.

Our Washington Correspondence.

WASHINGTON CITY, D. C., June 18, 1867.

Dear Sir:—The first moment of leisure is devoted to drop you a line. When and where it shall end, this dependent saith not.

The Federal City manifests more signs of improvement than any town or city that I have seen since the war. The occasion of my present visit is rendered interesting by the trial of John H. Surratt and the commencement of the Law Department of the Columbian College.

Surratt was brought on trial on Monday, the 10th inst., but a jury was not empaneled until Saturday, the 15th. The Court room was crowded all the while, highly odorous of the unwashed effluvia of African descent. By special favor of the Marshal at some times, and at others of the Judge, I was allowed admission. Surratt is a delicate, feeble young man, with auburn hair, sandy goatee, neatly dressed, evidently but little suited for the active duties of the Pope's body guard, or for the rough fare and drill of military life. With a more slender frame and melancholy aspect, he much resembles the excellent Clerk of the Superior Court of Berke County, Mr. Winston. We were painfully shocked at seeing him brought into the Court room in handcuffs, which the sturdy bailiffs unlocked and clicked about most defiantly, with an air that seemed to say "what a brave man I am!" The testimony has elicited some incidents hitherto unknown to the public in this painful affair. The prisoner's counsel, Messrs. Bradley, of Washington, and Judge Merrick, late of Chicago, are rendering their client faithful service. Collisions with opposing counsel are sometimes so sharp that the Court interposes and orders their "private difficulties to be settled elsewhere." More blood may yet flow from a written altercation of Jno. H. Surratt. The jury is admitted, generally, to be a very fair one, and from all that I could learn in Court, and out, my opinion is that the prisoner will escape the halter by a compromise of five or ten years imprisonment in some penitentiary.

The commencement of the Law Department of the Columbian College took place in Washington City on the 10th inst. The spacious auditorium of the National Theatre was crowded almost to suffocation. There were sixty-one graduates, among them a son of your noble State, Captain Woodbury Wheeler, late of the Confederate army. Our young friend acquitted himself with distinguished ability, obtaining one of the honorary prizes. His thesis on usury displayed a depth of knowledge that surprised the judges, and he was warmly commended. Having completed a full course in the classical and law departments, he designs spending the ensuing year on the continent of Europe, and will leave on the ocean steamer Quana, on the 20th inst. The Columbian College, long depressed, has attained a high position among the literary institutions of the country. Its medical department, which has sent forth some of the most eminent physicians of the country, is in the full tide of success.

No one should visit Washington without going to see the Architectural Department in the same building with the Patent office. Surratt is a man, fatigued, oppressed with heat, (on Saturday of my sojourn several persons were struck to the earth with coup de soleil) I went through the office connected with this valuable department. The Commissioner, Hon. Isaac Newton, who was very ill and since my visit has died, but I found the chief clerk, Mr. Stokes, very attentive, ready to answer all my questions, and to impart information on every subject connected with this valuable department.

The cereal crops throughout the United States vary. Prior to the late heavy rains wheat was very promising throughout the country; how disastrously so much water will affect the crop remains to be seen. Corn reports were favorable, except on the Atlantic slope of Virginia and the Carolina. Cotton will amount almost to a failure. Irish potatoes are rotting in the ground; perhaps not a fourth will mature. I heard on the street, with some surprise, that a new radical paper would be started in Raleigh! Holden don't suit! Something rotten, it is whispered. What will our radicals do? They had learned to swear by the Standard, but now there is no place for the Ex-Governor; he must retrace his steps, confess his sins and become a true man. Money and brains, quantum sufficit, are already enlisted, it is said, in behalf of the new organ.

You have doubtless heard of "No Joque," the new book about to be published by Horan Hinton Helper. Strange views, I am told, are advocated by the author; among other opinions, he argues the intellectual inferiority of the negro race.

On my way to this city I called on a few friends in Baltimore. There is great complaint of the southern business; business is at a stand for the want of the circulating medium. Several noble-souled merchants, it is said, have impoverished themselves by the liberality of their contributions to the suffering South.

The late Surgeon General, Dr. Ed. Warren, called on me at Barnum's Hotel. He seems to be in good spirits, except when overcome by the laborious practice in which he is engaged. His father, Dr. Wm. Warren, is now associated with Dr. Ed. Warren in the practice, and they are doing well. The new medical school, of which Dr. Warren, Jr., is professor of surgery, will open this fall, and it is to be hoped that its classes will be well filled with students from the South. But enough for once.

CARTOUCHE.

Mrs. Maria Gilmore, a widow lady, of Springfield, Mass., sixty-five years of age, committed suicide on Tuesday, by cutting out her bowels, which she placed near her in a pail of water. She lived an hour afterwards, and made her will. She was supposed to be insane.

The conservative citizens of Norfolk, Va., recently discovered that the registration lists at that place contained the names of more than twenty thousand colored voters, who they offered fifty dollars reward for information leading to the detection of the individuals engaged in the fraud.

A corps of thirty stump orators, chiefly colored, have been hired and sent South by the Republican Congressional Committee. They are directed to seek out and inflame the negroes even in the smallest villages. Another batch will soon follow.

Major Gen. Rawlins, Gen. Grant's Chief of Staff, has been lecturing in Galena, the home of Grant, giving the history of the rebellion and sketching at length the acts of the Government since the surrender, showing that the President has pursued an eminently pacificatory course. He is supposed to reflect the views of Gen. Grant.

A Georgia paper suggests that, as there will be a greater yield of wheat in that State than there has been for many years, the Governor appoint a day of thanksgiving and prayer.

GENERAL NEWS.

Mrs. Lincoln and her Furniture.

Mrs. Lincoln, widow of the late Abraham Lincoln, is about to take up her residence at Racine, Wisconsin, and having no further use for her furniture, she caused it to be sold at auction at Chicago. A report of the sale states that the handsome parlor set of brocade and rosewood, consisting of fourteen pieces, were sold for $1,100. The parlor carpet, of Brussels, one hundred and ten yards, brought $3,750; a pair of large mirrors was sold for $337; and two handsome mantel mirrors for $280 each. The curtains, damask and lace, with elegant carvings, sold for $230 each. The large etagee brought $275, and two smaller ones $100 and $87.50. The sideboard, a marble top table sold for $125, and a white marble top table $112, and two marble top stands for $87 each. A handsome chamber set of black walnut sold for $555, and Tad's chamber set for $150. The dining room furniture brought good prices, the sideboard selling for $275, the extension table for $68, and the chairs for $7 each. These were of black walnut.

The new Governor of Louisiana, appointed by General Sherman, is opposed to Confiscation. In a recent speech to the Republican Convention at New Orleans, he is reported to have said, that— "Confiscation, warily and oppression, was a mere incentive and temptation to robbery and corruption on the part of the victors. He hoped the radical republicans would no longer stain their hands or discredit their cause by any schemes of this nature."

Advices from Queretaro, Mexico, have been received. It was reported that Marquez, on opening certain documents belonging to Maximilian, had found a written declaration in favor of Huartile, and he thereupon proclaimed the latter Emperor, under the regency of the Empress Carlotta. The liberals had refused to postpone the trial of Maximilian for thirty days, in order to permit him to prepare his defense, and rumors were prevalent that he had been sentenced, and even shot. Minister Romero had received official intelligence confirming the statement that Santa Anna had declared himself to be acting under the authority of the United States, and that he was in command of a force of Americans.

The trial of Surratt bids fair to settle among other questions the mooted ones of the guilt of Mrs. Surratt and the identity of the dead body. Dr. May testified, on Tuesday, having identified the latter by a scar on the neck which he had produced while performing an operation some years before, and John M. Lloyd gave testimony again indirectly connecting Mrs. Surratt with the conspiracy. Judge Fisher denied the motion of defense asking for the recall of witnesses for the purpose of cross examination.

A dispatch says: "General Longstreet has left New Orleans for Jackson, Miss., where he will remain with his family and attend to his private affairs. He is said to have felt totally unprepared for the storm his letters to the President had kindled, and he had no intention of allying himself with the Radical party, but simply expressed, with a soldier's ignorance of sophistry, the policy he thought best and most likely to secure an early reconstruction of the country."

The Charlottesville Chronicle puts the whole question of registration in a nutshell by using this forcible and happy illustration: "Then you march to meet the enemy on land, you fight, and you win, and you will not fire." You ought to register, whether you vote or not; you ought to put yourself in a position to vote if the occasion demands it. If you do not register you cannot vote.

The dedication of the Masonic Temple took place at Boston, on Tuesday, with the most imposing ceremonies. The President of the participating lodges, and were received with renewed enthusiasm by the masses in attendance. The dedicatory address was delivered by Mr. Studley, and after the exercises a grand banquet was given by the fraternity, at which President Johnson made a speech.

Governor Jenkins has tendered the appointment of Chief Justice of the Georgia Supreme Court to Judge Hiram Warner.

MORE APPROPRIATIONS CALLED FOR.

HEADQUARTERS 2d MILITARY DISTRICT, CHARLESTON, S. C., June 18, 1867.

Hon. Henry Wilson, Chief Military Commissioner, United States.

MY DEAR SIR: It is probable, in view of existing circumstances, that Congress will convene in July. It is proper, therefore, I should inform you that the appropriation of $500,000 to execute the reconstruction acts is altogether inadequate. I am informed that the appropriation acts of Congress are less than those of other district commands. Indeed, the whole sum was more than absorbed by the estimate for May. For the Carolinas at least $500,000 will be required.

I have applied to the Navy and Treasury Departments for certain facilities, which, in view of the appropriation acts of Congress, would be granted, but my requests have not been favorably considered. I understand that the Secretary of the Navy assigned as his reason that no aid must be expected from that Department in the execution of the reconstruction acts, and Congress, Secretary of the Treasury expressed his desire to do all he could, but did not feel at liberty to make any disbursements for objects not precisely within the jurisdiction of his Department. It is usual, I believe, when the appropriation acts of Congress are not favorably considered, to make necessary expenditures and trust to a "deficiency bill," but in the execution of these acts this course will be impracticable, inasmuch as the principal disbursements are for the services of persons who depend upon their pay for support. I have the honor to suggest for your consideration, and of your colleagues as well, that the interests of the public service require, without delay, a further appropriation to execute the acts of Congress for the government of the rebel States.

Very Respectfully,

D. E. SICKLES,

Major General Commanding

Mexican news, by way of Havana, contains further details of the adventures of Santa Anna. The proposition of the old general to replace the defunct empire with a Republic was made the subject of a council of war among the imperial forces to whom he broached the question. The majority bitterly opposed the interference of Santa Anna at all, more especially at the head of American soldiers, as they were convinced from his own remarks that he had with him a command composed of Americans. The United States government came in for almost unmitigated abuse on the part of the imperial patriots; and their abuse of Santa Anna was bestowed upon him mainly on account of his having accepted the "protection" of the Republic made the subject of a council of war among the imperial forces to whom he broached the question. THEIR Soda keeps sparkling, bubbling and refreshing. To look at his fountain in play is cooling, to drink is like taking a fresh draught of life, these sultry days.

REGISTER IN BANKRUPTCY.—We learn from the Elizabeth City Transcript, that Judge Brooks has appointed C. C. Pool, Esq., of Elizabeth City, and Col. E. W. Jones, of Plymouth, Register in Bankruptcy for the first Congressional District in this State.

THE ECONOMICAL PUMP.—While the Junior Editor of this paper was in Wilmington, he saw one of the celebrated "Economical or Labor-Saving Pumps," of which Messrs. Mitchell, Allen & Co., are the proprietors for this State, in full operation. It was much less than an hour, and a plentiful supply of water obtained, which defied all efforts to pump it dry. The whole apparatus is exceedingly simple, and the difficulty of setting it up is going in such a soil as that in and about Wilmington hardly worth mention. Let us have one up here, as soon as possible.

RALEIGH AND GASTON RAILROAD.—We learn that at a meeting of the Board of Directors of this Road, held in this City on yesterday, the annual exhibit of operations was very satisfactory, and that a dividend of ten per cent. was declared, payable on the 15th of August—five per cent. cash, and five per cent. in stock.

We venture the opinion that no Road in the country is better managed, or can boast of a better administrative head than Dr. Hawkins or of superior employees to those it has in all the subordinate capacities.

WILMINGTON AND THE COAST.—The Junior Editor of this paper has just returned from a few days' pleasant sojourn in Wilmington and on Wrightsville Sound. For general, whole-souled hospitality, the former has always enjoyed a reputation second to that of no other community in the land; while the health-giving breezes and delicious aquatic luxuries of the latter are proverbial to the whole country over.

It is said to find even in Wilmington, the former country of business impulsion and enterprise, much of the stagnation and depression that is generally throughout out our unhappy action. There is great complaint of the dullness of trade, the scarcity of money and the destruction of crops. If anything can triumph over such discouraging circumstances, it will be the energy and spirit which have always distinguished our Cape Fear people.

The recent rains have worked incalculable damage to the crops and serious injury to the railroads throughout the lower country. The rice plantations on the Cape Fear, and most of the corn and cotton lands lying on the Neuse, are submerged and prostrated beyond the hope of recovery the present season. Many of the bridges and culverts on all the roads leading into Wilmington are swept away, or so weakened as to render travel and transportation precarious. These obstructions, however, will be speedily repaired under efficient and skillful superintendence. We can bear testimony to the promptness and energy with which accidents and impediments have been met and overcome on the Wilmington and Weldon Railroad especially, by all its officers, and particularly by Col. Fremont and Major Winder, the accomplished and zealous Superintendent and Road-Master. Few Roads in the country are under better management.

Wilmington, like Raleigh, is the focus of operations of a set of political agitators and mountebanks, who are doing much harm in demoralizing the colored population and arraying classes against each other. The natural results are frequent local disturbances, which the police, hampered by military intervention, are incompetent to control, though efficiently organized by the active and gallant City Marshal, Gen. Ransom. The Journal probably locates the chief difficulty aright, when it places it at municipal headquarters.

Notwithstanding the influx of foreign and Northern population, of doubtful merit and character, into the city, Wilmington maintains all of its ancient reputation for refinement, courtesy and liberality; and the writer of this retains many grateful recollections of kindness experienced at the hands of hospitable friends. He will not tantalize the up-country readers of the Sentinel with a description of surf-bathing off "the banks," in the surging waves of old ocean, or with even an allusion to pig-fish, soft-shells, and other delicacies of the sound. It would be unkind. No wonder that our friends below think that there is no such country as theirs. We are a convert to the partiality.

We were pleased to find our friends Messrs. Englehard and Price, of the Journal, in the full flush of success with their popular and admirable paper. Its circulation and business are greatly increasing, the best tribute to the industry and ability with which it is conducted. Maj. Englehard is not only indefatigable in his labors, but he is justly regarded as one of our best political paragraphists; while the mechanical department of the paper, under the auspices of Mr. Price, and the local, under the control of Mr. James, are alike well-managed and excellent.

We regret that our hurried stay in Wilmington prevented us from calling upon our friend Robinson, of the Dispatch, who has made a fine reputation by the ability and forcefulness with which he discusses men and measures.

At Goldsboro, we had the gratification of meeting our contemporaries of the News and Star, both of whom deserve success, and we hope will achieve it to the full measure of their attainments.

GENERAL SHERIDAN'S PROTEST AGAINST A RE-OPENING OF THE REGISTRY LISTS A-SHARPARGUMENT AGAINST THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION.

NEW ORLEANS, June 22, 1867.—12 o'clock P. M. General Sheridan sent General Grant the following to-day:

NEW ORLEANS, June 22, 1867.

General U. S. Grant, Washington:

GENERAL: I am in receipt of a telegram from the President, through Brevet Major General Townsend, Adjutant General United States Army, directing me to extend the registration in this city and State until August 1, unless I have some good reason to the contrary, and ordering me to report success and such reasons for his information, and also stating that in his judgment this extension is necessary to full and fair registration, and that the time should be thus extended because the district commanders will not get through before that time.

My reasons for closing registration in this city were because I had given the city two and a half months, and there were no more to register. I have given the State two and a half months, and registration will be completed by that time. I did not feel warranted in keeping up boards of registration at large expense to suit new issues coming in at the eleventh hour. The registration will be completed in Louisiana at the time specified, unless I am ordered to carry out the law under Mr. Stanbery's interpretation, which practically, in registration, is opening a broad and unbridled road for perjury and fraud to travel on.

I do not see why my registration should be dependent on the time when other district commanders get through. I have given more time for the registration of Louisiana than they propose to give in their commands, for I commenced six weeks before they did. I regret that I should have to differ with the President, but it must be recollected that I have been ordered to execute a law to which the President has been in bitter antagonism.

If after this report the time is to be extended, please notify, and it will be done. I would do it at once, but the President's telegram was contradictory, and there is sufficient time left to issue the necessary orders. P. M. SHERIDAN.

WANTED TO REGISTER.—An old negro man from the country came to the Cape Fear, and asked for "de man whar tuk de names of us called persons." He said he wanted his "duk," and wanted it "rit down for Mars Abe Linkum for President." It was explained to him that the time for "tinking" the names had arrived, and that if it had, his country would be "tink" here as he was a non-resident. The old fellow would listen to no such explanation, and indignantly denounced the policeman who gave it for trying to deprive him of his rights, privileges and immunities as a "freedom." Finding that all his denunciations were vain, he left finally to lay his grievances before "Mars Burer," as he called it, which he knew would be "justa did him." What "Mars Burer" had to say in the matter this deponent didn't take the trouble to inquire. Lynchburg News.
